EXEO Group, Inc. (head office: Shibuya-ku, Tokyo; Tetsuya Funabashi, President) announced that it participated in the corporate partnership for the Global Sustainability Accelerator, a program hosted by Google for Startups and Creww, Inc. (Sorato Ijichi, President) with the goal of helping startups in Japan that are promoting sustainability solve social issues around the world.

Creww is the biggest open innovation platform in Japan that the Company has used to date. The Company participated in the program (whose primary theme was, "Electricity, Water, and Food Preservation," and whose sub-theme was, "Healthcare, Environment Management, Urban and Regional Development and Transportation and Traffic") with the goal of effectively expanding activities through co-creation with startups.

The Company defined the practice of ESG management as one of the challenges toward sustainable growth in its 2030 Vision announced in May 2021, and set environmental, social, and governance KPIs as well as specific targets in Medium-Term Management Plan (2021-2025), which it is working systematically and continuously to achieve. The Company will continue to work toward the realization of a sustainable society through the practice of environmentally friendly management, including the reduction of greenhouse gas emissions, with an eye toward providing solutions to a range of social challenges including environmental and climate change issues, and the active development of its renewable energy-related businesses.
