GUUD Becomes Wholly Owned Subsidiary of EXEO Global

EXEO Global has acquired the remaining shares of GUUD as part of its strategy to build a strong synergistic portfolio of businesses and grow its international footprint

Singapore, 13 May 2025 – EXEO Global Pte Ltd (“EXEO Global”), the global business headquarters of Tokyo Stock Exchange Prime Market listed EXEO Group, Inc, has acquired the remaining shares of GUUD from its existing shareholders.

The acquisition of the remaining shares by EXEO Global is part of its continued strategy to build a synergistic portfolio of businesses in the areas of Managed Services, ICT Infrastructure and M&E Engineering globally.

GUUD’s strong government and logistics industry connections, as well as expertise in global trade compliance, e-logistics and trade technologies, strongly complements the service offerings of the existing businesses under EXEO Global and would allow its businesses under the EXEO Global Group to be able to offer more holistic solutions to its valued partners and clients.

“GUUD sees strong synergies in being part of the EXEO Global Group. We look forward to being able to leverage the Group’s strong capabilities to build on our offerings for our existing and potential clients and partners, so we can offer them the right solutions to meet their needs,” said Mr Allen Chan, CEO of GUUD.

Ms Kow Ya, Group COO of EXEO Global, shared, “GUUD’s acquisition will allow the Group to further grow its international footprint, and we look forward to being able to leverage their strong network and solutions to build greater synergies and solutions within the Group.”
